Capitol Report

Students from Rosemont Elementary School of Dallas visited with Rep. Alonzo (far left) during their annual field trip to the State Capitol. Rep. Alonzo spoke to the 4th graders about the importance of staying in school, making good grades, obeying their parents and teachers, and most importantly about graduating from both high school and college

As Vice Chairman of the House Pensions Committee Rep. Alonzo on Wed, May 20, had the pleasure of presenting Chairman Dan Flynn (left) with a donation raised from all the members of the committee to be used toward the relief fund for schools in the Van ISD destroyed during the recent tornado in that area of Texas. Van ISD is in Rep. Flynn's district.

A group of Promotoras from across Texas met recently with Rep. Alonzo to discuss the health needs and services necessary for the low-income families they help every year. Promotoras aim to motivate, inform, navigate, and educate Texans who have limited access to healthcare resources.

Rep. Alonzo with his wife Sylvana Alonzo were greeted by Chairman Joe Pickett's Office this week.

A group of American Heritage Girls dropped by the office this week. Practicing their leadership skills and learning about their Texas State Capitol was the goal of their latest fieldtrip.
