

Dear Friends,

This week in the Texas House has been incredibly productive as we continue working on the issues that matter most to you. I've had the opportunity to meet with multiple groups, individuals, and constituents from across our district and the state – each bringing valuable perspectives on the challenges we face and the solutions we must advance.

Our mission remains clear: strengthening Texas through conservative, principled leadership. From discussions on economic growth and border security to protecting our kids and strengthening our education system, we are laying the groundwork for a session that delivers real results. These conversations are helping shape legislation that will prioritize fiscal responsibility, individual freedoms and the overall prosperity of our great state.

We have important work ahead and I look forward to keeping you updated on our efforts to defend Texas values and advance meaningful reforms.

Thank you for your support and engagement. Please don't hesitate to reach out with your thoughts – I value your input as we work together to make Texas stronger.

All My Best,
